

The Food Futures Salon

The Food Futures Salon invites everyone to engage in a speculative design game and envision possible futures of the global food system and our day-to-day food practices. The game is played over a specially designed Digital Food Cards that outline 24 scenarios of near-future dietary lifestyles impacted by digital industry innovation. Instead of suggesting any answers or solutions, the cards raise questions and provoke the players to speculate: What, where, how and with whom would we eat in digital food futures? What would be the favorite snack of a Chew Transcender, NutriAmorist, or a Gut Gardener? Is YouTube the new digital hawker center?
